Unity Voice Mail Instructions

What's new?

- A web portal has been added to allow greeting changes via the web. Voicemail PINs must also be changed here, rather than in Outlook.
- Missed call notifications will no longer be delivered to your email inbox, but will still appear on your desk phone.
- PIN resets will be completed via a web portal at https://voicemail.kctcs.edu/ciscopca. This web portal will also give you a view of your voicemail and other voicemail options from a web interface.
- Replying to a voicemail via the "Reply" function in Outlook will fail. If you would like to reply to a voicemail using email, either create a new email to the intended recipient, or forward the email containing the voicemail that you are replying to.
- Transferring callers directly to voicemail is now a supported feature.

What actions will I need to take?

Pre-Migration

o Take note of any saved voicemails in your existing voicemail. Voicemails that are saved in your email will not be affected. However, they will no longer exist on your telephone after migration.

Post-Migration

- o Record a new greeting
  - After your new voice mailbox has been enabled, your greeting will be a default, computer generated greeting.
     You should record a custom greeting that callers will hear when leaving voicemails.
- Set a new PIN
  - The default PIN is 113355
  - Upon logging into your voice mailbox for the first time, you will be prompted to change your PIN. This PIN is different than the PIN that is used for Lync. It is required to be at least 4 digits.
